GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Strike of Pork-packers at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—It appears that the trouble between pork-packers and their hands, who number in the aggregate about 5000, has broken out again and is likely to prove a serious matter to one of the greatest industries of the city. The workingmen's union, to which organization some 2000 workmen at the stock yard belong, recently decided to demand an advance of 25 cents per day over last year's prices for all kinds of labor in the packing houses. The proprietors demurred, but yesterday, in order to finish up the work on hand, gave in temporarily and paid the prices demanded. To-day, however, 21 packers and curers, embracing all the principal houses, signed an agreement to act in harmony, and especially to hire and discharge the men they saw fit regardless of the union or associations. Many of the packers have shut down entirely, stating that they would not pack another hog this season if they could not get men at the old prices. They claim that there is no money in the present price of hogs, and that an increase in expenses would be ruinous. Some firms threaten to remove their business from Chicago. Hogs were a drug in the market to-day, and at the close the prospect was not good for activity in the near future. The wages of the workmen are now from $2 to $4 per day, according to the class of work they do.

Returns still Incomplete.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—The debt payers claim that they have certainly elected 47 delegates with an equal chance for 5 others, and 14 senators with an equal chance for 3 others. The readjusters however still maintain that they have 23 senators out of 40, and 56 delegates out of 100.

Hanged for Murder.

GALVESTON, Nov. 7.—A News' special from Lockhart, Texas, says that Bill Davis was executed this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the murder of Dolly Hudspeth, October 20, 1878. He acknowledged his guilt from the scaffold and suffered death without evincing emotion. A large crowd witnessed the hanging.

Important if True.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Congressmen Wright, of Pennsylvania, and Marsh, of Maine, have been here two or three days, taking evidence for the congressional committee on depression of business. About a dozen witnesses have been examined, among whom are Wendell Phillips and Gen. Horace Binney.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

[illegible], Nov. 7.—A freight train on the [illegible] road broke in two early this [illegible] while coming down a mountain [illegible] miles west of Altoona. The detached section of the train gained great speed going down hill at the rate of a mile a minute, and at Kittaning Point it overtook the first part. Twenty-four cars were completely wrecked and freight scattered in all directions. James A. McDowell, [illegible], was instantly killed and his body mutilated. J. C. Cook, another [illegible], was seriously injured and is not expected to recover.

WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—A general order has been issued by the secretary of the navy announcing the death and recounting the services of Rear Admiral Reynolds, and, in respect to his memory, ordering that on the day after the reception of the order, the flags of navy yards and stations and vessels in commission be displayed at half-mast from sunrise to sunset, and that thirteen minute guns be fired at noon from the navy yards and stations, flag ships and vessels acting singly.

BY MAIL AND TELEGRAPH.

The Obelisk Story.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Lieutenant Commander Gorringe telegraphs the New York World [illegible], dated Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 30: [illegible] in the London Daily News originated in an attempt on the part of persons representing the Italian authorities here to interfere with the removal of the obelisk on [illegible]. The matter was amicably arranged [illegible]. There is a good deal of antagonism on the part of foreign residents to the removal of the obelisk to the United States, and threats have been made of an attempt to seize the obelisk and sell it in [illegible] account of European creditors of Egypt. The obelisk is now American property and American ownership of it will be [illegible]. The work of preparing for removal is going on satisfactorily.

[illegible]—The Difficulties Settled.

NEW YORK, Nov. [illegible].—A dispatch from Cairo says: The recent difficulties concerning the obelisk have their origin in a long-standing [illegible] with the Egyptian government concerning the land upon which the obelisk [illegible]. The Italians claiming this land forbade Com. Gorringe to proceed with the work of removal. The Italian vice consul at Alexandria supported this prohibition, but the American vice consul general had an interview with the Italian consul general [illegible], and through the good will of the latter the Italians withdrew their opposition on receiving from Commander Gorringe a compensation for the use of the land. The commander is now proceeding rapidly with his work, although several holders of Egyptian bonds have threatened to sequester the obelisk. The khedive and the American [illegible] both ridicule the idea that the obelisk can be seized by anybody.

The Russian Defeat in Turkestan.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The Golos says: The force defeated at Galktepe, Turkestan, on August 28th, consisted of three battalions of infantry, two squadrons of dragoons, two sotnias of Cossacks, two sotnies of mounted [illegible] irregulars, one mounted battery, one rocket company, under Colonel [illegible]; also, three battalions of infantry, [illegible] of Cossacks and one infantry [illegible], under General Count Borch. The [illegible] says: "The affair culminated in an inexplicable panic, and the percentage of our loss was enormous and unprecedented."

England and the Turkish Debt.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A certain [illegible] was [illegible] on the Paris bourse yesterday, which stated that a settlement of the Turkish debt had been effected, under the auspices of the Ottoman Bank, on a pledge of the revenues from salt and tobacco, and the surplus of the Egyptian tribute. The [illegible] of the [illegible] is fixed for March, 1880.

The Irish Distress.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of the exchequer, in answering a [illegible] calling his attention to the [illegible] in southwest Ireland, and suggesting [illegible] action by the government in providing work for the people, says he sympathizes with the people, but can only refer [illegible] to the Irish executive. He adds that [illegible] interposition by the government would [illegible] great abuse.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

Feeling in New York Over the Election—Newspaper Comment—Dismal View of the Future by the Sun—Meeting at Tammany Hall.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Election excitement is rather greater than before the election. The state ticket, except governor, still hangs in doubt, and the majority for either side can not exceed 500 out of 850,000 votes cast.

The Tribune still keeps up its fire of ridicule on the scratchers, while the Times denounces the candidacy of Cornell brought about by Conkling, and the World lashes Tammany unmercifully.

The Times shows, by figures, that Cornell ran 35,000 behind his ticket, and adds: The fatal folly of management which placed Cornell at the head of the republican state ticket, requires no further demonstration, and the absolute necessity of making a radical change in that management demands no further argument.

The Sun says: The prospect of a reunion of the scattered forces of the democratic party in this state in time to be available at the next presidential election is not, we are sorry to say, at the present very brilliant. There was a meeting of the Tammany general committee last night, but it was not a jovial gathering. The defeated candidates did not respond with enthusiasm to Grady's sentiment that offices were nothing compared with principles. John Kelly was present, but did not make a speech. It was decided to issue an address to the democracy of the United States explaining things.

The World says: The most authentic returns received at the World office elect Mr. Potter by from 500 to 1000 majority. Mr. Seymour for state engineer is elected by a still larger majority, and there appears to be no doubt of the success of Mr. Beach for secretary of state and of Mr. Machin for state treasurer. Tammany cut the city vote for Mr. Olcott for comptroller and Mr. Schoonmaker for attorney general so extensively as to reduce their majority considerably less in this city, and it may require the official returns to determine the result.

The Times says: The latest returns from the counties in this state, while they reduce Cornell's plurality by a few hundred, show an apparent majority for a greater portion of the other candidates on the state ticket over their democratic competitors. James W. Wadsworth, the republican candidate for controller, has received several thousand more votes than any of his colleagues, while Gen. Joseph B. Carr, the candidate for secretary of state, comes next in point of majority. The other names on the ticket stand in the following order as regards the size of their vote: Hamilton Ward, attorney general; Nathan D. Wendell, treasurer, and Geo. G. Hoskins, lieutenant governor. Mr. Howard Soule's chances of success are not so good, but his defeat is by no means certain. Estimates based on last night's returns give Mr. Cornell 37,672 plurality. Additions to the vote of the remainder of the ticket are constantly increasing the pluralities, the present figures indicating that Hoskins has about 1100 more votes than Potter, while Mr. Wadsworth has nearly 5000 more than Mr. Olcott. Kelly's vote as far as returned foots up 70,263, while Harris Lewis, the greenback candidate, has only received 7182.

Result Still in Doubt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Evening Post has this dispatch from Albany: "Nothing very new has been learned here to-day relative to the state election. Albany republican newspapers claim the election of the whole republican ticket with doubts as to Seymour. The republicans found their hope of the election of their ticket on the increase of majorities in rural counties not yet heard from completely. Cornell's plurality remains at about 40,000. The New York Express, democratic, says that there is enough of the uncertain element in the vote for state officers to keep the public mind on a stretch that may be extended to the conclusion of the state official canvass.

POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.

The Result in New York Discussed at Washington—Various Wise Speculations by Various Wiseacres on Both Sides.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The general results of the New York election to-day have given rise to much interesting comment among experienced political observers at the national capitol, which may be briefly summarized as follows. In the first place it is admitted on all hands that New York must henceforth be considered the decisive battle ground for the presidential contest; but opinions differ widely as to the right of one party or the other to prognosticate success next year from the outcome of this election. The democrats in Washington seem more cheerful over the news than their republican neighbors, and point to Potter's vote as proof that New York is really democratic. They call attention also to the fact that the republicans persistently made the issues in New York of a national character, the same as in Ohio, and though the democrats were defeated in Ohio, the result in New York shows that those issues cannot make the north stalwartly solid. Tilden has but few friends among the democrats here, as most of them are southern men, and for this reason there is a general prediction that his failure to carry New York for Robinson lays him on the shelf, so far as the presidential nomination is concerned. There is, however, a perceptible feeling that his defeat was not so overwhelming as to totally destroy his grip on things political, and there are some democrats who predict that his strength and that of the democratic party in general, will be increased by the stand taken by the party under the lead of Tilden, in risking defeat rather than submit to the dictation of a faction whose connection with it has been for years a reproach throughout the country. It is quite generally believed that the result in New York largely helps Senator Bayard's chances for the presidential nomination. His views on financial questions have always been in harmony with those of the New York democrats, and he is not objectional to any faction of the democratic party in that state, which must now be considered essential to democratic success. Had Robinson been elected, Tilden would undoubtedly have easily obtained the presidential nomination. It is now contended that Tilden cannot carry the whole party strength, but that Bayard can. Tilden's friends here, however, do not concede this, but claim that his organizing abilities and resources, although unable to save Robinson against the Kelly defection, nevertheless saved all the candidates who were elected, and that he cannot be separated from the party's success. They therefore look for an immense reaction of sympathy in his favor, and confidently claim his nomination and election next year.

The republicans on the other hand argue that there is no possibility for a cordial reunion of the New York democrats upon Tilden or any presidential candidate whom he would favor, and that in any event short of Conkling's nomination, which they consider out of the question, the full republican vote of New York will be polled next year and prove to be larger than this year's aggregate of the votes of both democratic factions, who brought out every democrat last Tuesday, whereas large numbers of republicans stayed at home and refused to vote for any portion of the ticket, which they believed was dominated wholly in Conkling's and Cornell's interest.

GEN. HOOKER'S FUNERAL.

Procession and Church Services—Oration by Chaplain Earnshaw.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—The remains of Gen. Hooker lay in state in the Second Presbyterian Church all last night and this morning in charge of Capt. [illegible] and a squad of soldiers. The casket was not opened. The church, around the chancel, was appropriately decorated with flags. The casket rested on a catafalque covered with the national stars on a blue field. A rich floral pillow, from California, was placed at the head. On the white ground in purple buds appeared the following: "California Pioneers—We will meet over the divide." Another floral design, in tube roses, bore the inscription: "First Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers," Hooker's old brigade. The procession moved promptly at one o'clock. It was the intention to bury Gen. Hooker in a lot purchased by himself for interment with his wife, but owing to the non-completion of the necessary papers transferring the property, the interment will be delayed, the remains being deposited in a vault to-day. Governor Brown and staff and the Brown Guards of the Soldiers' Home, from Dayton, arrived this morning and were assigned a place in the procession.

The procession was slow in getting under way, not reaching the church until after 2 o'clock. The column formed in the following order: Detachment of police, grand marshal, Grand Army of the Republic, Soldiers and Sailors' Memorial Association, First and Second Kentucky Associations, Veteran Military Association, society of ex army and navy officers, first regiment of the Ohio National Guards, Brown Guards of the Soldiers' Home, guard of honor of U. S. troops, catafalque and pall bearers, family and friends, General Augur and staff, Governor Bishop and staff, common council and judges and officers of the U. S. courts.

The flags on the government and city buildings are all at half mast. As the procession moved, fire bells tolled, and at Newport barracks minute guns were fired. At the church, which was densely packed, Chaplain Earnshaw delivered an oration, speaking extemporaneously but impressively, and with deep emotion. He said:

> Three hundred thousand brave men laid down their lives before this rebellion was put down. Others returned to their homes. Since their return one after another has ceased to live. When one of these heroes died every heart was touched. The hero of Nashville, Gen. Thomas, is dead; the leader of Gettysburg, Gen. Meade, has gone and to-day we pay the last rites to the heroic General Jos. Hooker. He stood untouched amid missiles of treason, but now he lies low before us. He is not dead; his name will always live in the history of his country.

Rev. Thos. Lee of the Cincinnati Bethel made a brief prayer and pronounced the benediction. The corpse was then borne from the church on the shoulders of eight soldiers of the 13th infantry and was followed by mourners and pall bearers.

VICTORIA'S HOSTILE APACHES.

Defeated and Driven into Mexico by Arizona Troops—The Mexican Government Asked to Co-operate in Capturing them.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

TUCSON, A. T., Nov. 7.—A special from Fort Grant to the Tucson Daily Star says that dispatches from Fort Bayard, New Mexico, announce the return there of Arizona troops and scouts. They had a fight by moonlight with Victoria's band of Apaches in Mexico 60 miles below the line. One hundred and eighty warriors engaged in the fight were defeated and driven from the field. Private Cochlerio, of Co. A, 6th cavalry, of Fort Grant, Arizona, was killed, and an Indian scout, of Lieut. Gatewood's company, of Fort Apache, was killed, and another wounded. Major Morrow commanded the troops in the fight. The Arizona troops are en route to their posts, the hostile Indians having all been driven out of New Mexico. Gen. Carr, in charge of all scouting parties and troops in the field in southern Arizona, will return at once with his troops along the border to guard the territory against hostiles now in Mexico.

AN INTERESTING STORY.

Rise and Fall of Phillipart in Paris, and his Second Rise and his Second Fall.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Toward the end of 1871 Phillipart [illegible] a [illegible] on the [illegible] [illegible]. He [illegible] the Bank of France and of Holland, and became president of the Credit Mobilier and attached himself to many other companies. He came to grief and was declared a bankrupt both at Paris and Brussels, his liabilities amounting to 28,000,000 francs. Four years have elapsed, and that catastrophe was sinking into oblivion, when Phillipart reappeared. It was noised about that he had settled with his creditors, not in cash, but by showing them that he had acted with sincerity and had not enriched himself at their expense and had worked conscientiously, but had succumbed to a great coalition against him of great railway companies, who sought to prevent him grouping all small lines into a seventh great company. His creditors believed him and absolved him and he reappeared in the financial world. He created a new bank (Banque Europienne) was empowered to raise its capital to 100,000,000 francs and issued shares at a considerable premium. He made no promises. He simply reminded the public that it was he who invited it to subscribe. His first issue was of 40,000 shares of 500 francs, nominal at 700 francs. They were subscribed four times over. A general meeting, held at Brussels, authorized him to continue his issues and 17,000,000 francs entered the coffers of the Banque Europienne. Then commenced a kind of race against bourse speculations. Phillipart bought an enormous number of shares of the Credit Mobilier, the chairmanship of which he wished to recover. His name was mixed up with a variety of schemes and, in short, he shone more brilliantly than ever, and, as if endowed with financial ubiquity, at the settlement of of Oct 15th, it was whispered that some difficulties had impeded his operations and that he had to pay very dearly for money. The settlement, however, passed over and four days ago he announced to the board of the Banque Europienne that the coming settlement would be difficult; that he found it hard to raise money, and that he was going to Liege, Belgium, to procure it. He started and news from him was anxiously expected; but two days passed without tidings. The day evening the Europienne board met. A telegramme was sent him. There was no reply. The banque's legal advisers were sent for and the state of things examined into. Phillipart's liabilities to the banque amounted to three or four millions of francs, but the banque held an enormous quantity of Credit Mobilier shares and it reckoned its shares in the purchase of the Grand Hotel as assets of three or four million francs. The position of the banque was therefore good, on condition of the bonds it held not being thrown on the market. The statutes provide no operation of Phillipart should bind the concern unless endorsed by two directors. The board decided that it had not a receipted responsibility of Phillipart's bourse operations on the boards. On this decision and Phillipart's disappearance becoming known on the bourse the effect was like a thunder clap. Phillipart was "decorated" as it is called, the balance due by him reaching 680,000 francs. Thursday evening it was affirmed that a compromise was about to be effected between the Banque Europienne and brokers on a basis to be agreed upon so as to make the best of the affair.

Grand Dress Ball at the San Francisco Pavilion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—A sequel to the authors' carnival in the shape of a grand fancy dress ball occurred at the pavilion last evening. The doors were opened as early as 6:30 o'clock and by 9 every available seat in the galleries, on the stage and in the booths, was occupied to the number of several thousands. At 9 o'clock the grand march commenced. Those only who took part in the representations of the carnival, took positions in the column, all in costume, presenting a brilliant and striking scene. On the conclusion of the march the order of dances was taken up. This final entertainment, so successful in every respect, promises to add largely to the proceeds of the carnival available for distribution among charities, for whose benefit the enterprise was originally projected.

A Handsome Balance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The receipts of the authors' carnival were $43,000 and the expenses $23,000. The expenses and receipts of the ball last night about balance.

Escape of Notorious Robbers.

UKIAH, Nov. 7.—J. T. Wheeler and Anthony escaped from jail. Wheeler is one of the Eel river outlaws, and Anthony is under conviction of murder, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. A brother of Anthony has been in town all day, and it appears to be the impression that he has aided the escape. After leaving the jail they went to a stable, mounted horses and left town.

THE CRIME CONFESSED.

The Woman who Attempted to Kill Her Child at Seattle Under Arrest—The Crime Committed to Avoid Exposure and Disgrace.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

SEATTLE, Nov. 7.—The chief of police, who has been busily engaged for the past two days in an attempt to ferret out the perpetrator of the attempted child murder here on Tuesday night, to-day arrested a widow woman named Briston, formerly of Portland, Oregon. When first confronted by the officer, she denied all knowledge of the affair; but when apprised that a web of circumstantial evidence had been woven about her, she reluctantly acknowledged being the mother of the child. Your correspondent accompanied the officers this evening to the Providence hospital, whither the woman was taken, and the scene in the little room when she entered and seized the little waif from the cradle, with tears streaming down her cheeks, was most affecting. She has been employed in various families in this city for some time in the capacity of servant girl, and latterly at Mr. Post's, in whose privy the child was found. She is 22 years of age, and has been a widow five years, her husband having [illegible] Portland. Her parents reside in British Columbia. As yet she refuses to divulge the name of the child's father, and assigns no [illegible] for the commission of the terrible crime.

SATURDAY MORNING NOV 8 1879

LESSON WORTH HEEDING

The opponents of the New York Times on republican management in that state under the dictation of Conkling are severely just. A ... was nominated whom we make ... was an ... and defiance ... of the party in the state and it was intended to be such. Senator Conkling ... and malice resolved to show that he could ... machine over the friends of the administration and the protesters ... his methods. And in doing so he threw away the opportunity of a republican victory in New York which would have been so overwhelming as to settle the presidential election most decisively a year in advance of the event. Cornell his special favorite runs 35,000 votes behind the general ticket and the general ticket unquestionably lost thousands of votes under the load of his name. Had the war upon the administration and the liberal and independent element of the party been allowed to cease in New York and had a ticket been nominated which would have carried the entire strength of the party the same result which is hailed in Pennsylvania Connecticut New Jersey Wisconsin Illinois and in fact every other northern state which has held an election this year would have been hailed also in New York. There can be no doubt of it. Instead of having a minority governor and being obliged to figure within the limit of a few hundred votes to see whether they have elected the balance of the ticket or not there would be a stupendous majority as in the other states. What a pernicious influence Conklingism is in the republican party was never so apparent as in this election because so many circumstances never before conjoined to make it so plain. There should have been a clear majority of 30,000 in New York in this election. The causes, growing out of the attitude of the south, which have doubled and trebled the republican majorities in other states could not have failed also to operate in New York but to a great extent they were neutralized by the Conkling management. Republicans by tens of thousands protested against a selfish political despotism and its methods. This result disposes of the pretense of Conkling's supporters that their chief could carry New York as a presidential candidate and fortunately it disposes of it in advance so as to avert the disaster that would wait on the experiment. Justly the Times says that "the fatal folly of the management which placed Cornell at the head of the republican state ticket requires no further demonstration and the absolute necessity of making a change in that management demands no further argument." It is useless folly to ridicule the "scratchers," as the Tribune does. The "scratchers" are men of independence and firmness who are not to be moved by ridicule or denunciation. The simple way is to nominate tickets which will afford no pretext for scratching. Nothing could be more natural and easy than such a course. But when nominations are made expressly with a view of insulting a large number of the conscientious men of a party and of defying them to help themselves, what right have the managers of such politics to expect anything but scratching? In this New York election there is a lesson which should have wide application, and Oregon is neither so remote nor so small a state as to make it unprofitable to study the lesson here.

A NEVER SETTLED QUESTION

That eastern question, which it was the boast of Beaconsfield that he had settled for ever through the treaty of Berlin is already again a subject of contention, and is rapidly getting into a shape which will make another "settlement" of it necessary. Having succeeded in getting the Russian military forces out of Turkey, the English ministry are now figuring for an excuse for English interference in the affairs of the country, with a view of effecting a military lodgement there, keeping Russia out hereafter and establishing a British protectorate over the country of the Ottomans,—or in other words, of making it an appendage or suzerainty of the British empire. So far the excuses of the British ministry for this action with regard to Turkey are two: first, that the Ottoman government has not carried out in its Asiatic dominions the reforms it had promised and second that it is in default on its English loans. It is however, easy to see that these are excuses to cover the ultimate designs of the British government upon the Turkish empire. The first of these designs is to anticipate any future movement by Russia upon Constantinople, and to checkmate it, and this will soon involve the secondary design of a military occupation of the country and a protectorate over it. British diplomacy is now therefore employed in the direction of forcing a change of the sultan's ministry, so as to give English interest a dominating influence in the Turkish cabinet, and a British fleet has been or is about to be ordered up as a "moral force" to support British claims.

If this policy be persisted in it is difficult to see how it can lead to any other issue than war between Great Britain and Russia. Such a war resulting from so manifest a purpose on the part of Britain to aggrandize herself by seizure of Turkey, might and probably would bring other powers into the conflict and cause a general European war. The position of England in such a struggle would not be morally strong. It was but recently that she was accusing Russia of similar designs on the independence of the Ottoman empire and interposing to frustrate them and if she now on any paltry reason or poor excuse, or in fact on any excuse, disturbs the settlement which she herself made through the treaty of Berlin, her conduct will be regarded as faithless and it will be very likely to raise up enemies against her.

It is probable that the Turkish government founded as it is on injustice and despotism and loaded with debt is incapable of administrative reform. It may be unable much longer to stand alone. If Turkey must pass under the dominion either of Great Britain or Russia it is in every way in the interest of justice and civilization that the country should become subject to the former rather than the latter. Should there be a war with Russia on the question here is every probability that the result would leave Constantinople in the hands of the English unless Europe could be armed on the side of Russia to prevent it. The final issue of these complications can only be matter of conjecture ... any active interest ... part ... and in the ... Turks ... advance ... of liberty ... civilization. And this ... when Russia was ... work of ...

TARIFF ...

be made to revise the tariff and lop off some at least of the most glaring abuses of protection but it cannot become a party question on the basis of present party divisions because large numbers of democrats are protectionists and large numbers of republicans are free traders. The Albany organ appears to entertain the notion that because many democrats are free traders and many republicans are protectionists The Oregonian ... in a dilemma by its advocacy of free trade. The ... would naturally ... but the independent newspaper ... led by such considerations. It is bound to look the facts ... this party or that may ... such doctrine or oppose ... independent judgment and conscience in order ... its opinions it believes to be erroneous. Since The Oregonian has not sold nor hired out its opinions nor is it subject to any class of persons and does not propose to ... it experiences none of the embarrassment which the Albany organ talks about. It is probable that at the coming session a majority of both parties in congress will be found in favor of tariff revision. The demand for such revision is swelling to proportions which certainly cannot long be disregarded. If there are democrats who join in the demand The Oregonian is glad of it. If there are republicans who oppose it, it regrets it. If there shall prove to be both republicans and democrats who are wise enough to follow their own convictions and support a just system of tariff revision without appealing to party spirit or trying to make it a party question and their numbers shall be sufficient to carry the measure this journal will rejoice at the result. But it will feel no embarrassment or be placed in no dilemma, no matter who supports or who opposes it.

Dispatches are somewhat conflicting but it seems probable that the entire republican ticket is elected in New York. But there is only a bare majority where except for the Conkling management there would have been exemplary figures. Tilden is probably disposed of by this election and yet no other man could get the vote in New York which he received in 1876 and if he has raised up enemies in his party who have been able to defeat him likewise it will be found that no other man in his party can command elements of strength which he has been able to wield. If his party cannot win with him equally it cannot win without him. New York therefore can be carried by the republicans in the presidential contest though it will be the battle ground and the struggle will perhaps exceed in intensity anything ever witnessed in our political history. If however the friends of Bayard or of any other candidate think they can get the vote which Tilden has commanded without Tilden's methods they will find themselves mistaken. And as to employing Tilden's methods, who among them has ability to do it? To speak plainly who else can command such resources as his for intrigue and corruption? No other man of his party can possibly get the vote which Tilden has received when a candidate. Not one of them can draw Tilden's bow.

The Atlanta Constitution has this to say for the consolation of the colored race but it is doubtful whether they will properly appreciate the sentiment: "The time will come when the colored people of the south will regard slavery as a benefaction and a boon rather than as a curse. They will come to recognize the fact that it had its place in the economy of providence and that its mission was to civilize and elevate rather than to degrade. They will perceive that it gave to them and their children's children a future that no other method or process could have given them and they will come to know that the southern slaveholder like themselves was a mere blind instrument in the hands of fate."

Capt Johns writes to the St Paul Press of the Grant reception in Portland and does it full justice. At the same time he truly says that the republicans of this state are for Blaine for the presidency and not for Grant. The reception of Grant here he says may be styled as respectful and cordial but not hearty and enthusiastic. He is the impersonal representative of a cause and deducting the element of curiosity the Grant demonstrations are due more to that cause than to him. And it is added that were Blaine to visit this section the enthusiasm of his reception, as compared with that of Grant would mark the difference between popular gratitude and popular affection.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune who has been travelling extensively through several of the upper Mississippi and Lake states says that while he finds nine republicans out of ten willing to vote for Grant if nominated there is no genuine enthusiasm apparent in favor of his third term. Many among them he says fear that the politicians who are pushing him forward so energetically are looking with longing eyes towards prospective favors in the shape of remunerative contracts and near sighted justice.

In the army the nickname for the colored cavalry is "the brunettes" and there has been heretofore some derision in the application of it because the colored troops have not been looked upon with favor in the service and their value has been questioned as well as their valor. But this will not be the case again, for since the heroic march of the colored company to the aid of Payne and his desperately beleaguered troops the brunettes have won their standing and nobody will dispute it in future.

The house of representatives has created a permanent committee of nine to take charge of all petitions addressed to that body on the subject of intoxicating beverages. It was stated in the debate that 30,000 petitioners had sent in their prayers and that the petitions had been smothered in the room of the judiciary committee without report. Now all will receive due attention and be reported on.

The loss by the recent hurricane and flood in Spain is estimated at the very large sum of $1,000,000. Over ... houses were destroyed and ... lives lost which ... exceeds any disaster of this sort that has heretofore occurred in that or any other country in Europe.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 8, 1879.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—[illegible] A. M.—[illegible] coast, partly cloudy weather. Light [illegible] and West Washington Territory.

CITY.

RUNAWAY [illegible].—[illegible] About noon yesterday, a runaway occurred in the northern portion of the city. In the vehicle were seated Mrs. Walling of Oswego and Miss Highland. A little south of the Clarendon Hotel a number of teams and trucks got jammed together, just as the horse approached, and one of the trucks swinging around quickly in order to give the street [illegible] to pass, struck the buggy a heavy blow. The force of the collision frightened the animal, which, jumping at the same instant, the vehicle was upset and the two ladies thrown out. Mrs. Walling struck on her head and had her hip painfully bruised, besides receiving severe contusions on various parts of the body in addition to a sprained ankle. The other lady was more fortunate and escaped without a scratch.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—About half-past twelve o'clock Thursday night, as Policeman Sherry of Astoria was going his rounds, he stopped for a moment in front of a saloon near the O. S. N. Co's dock. A man standing in the vicinity, a stranger to Sherry, deliberately drew two revolvers and fired at the officer, one shot passing through his coat near the shoulder, another making a slight flesh wound in the thigh. Sherry drew his revolver to return his assailant's fire, but the weapon snapped, and he started to run, at the same time blowing his whistle for help. The man fired nine more shots, but without effect. With the assistance of other policemen, Sherry arrested the man, who refused to give his name. He had 100 cartridges and two revolvers on him when arrested.

A SEAROUS ROW.—Thos. Fallon, a bar keeper at the notorious Ivy Green saloon, and Thos. Mulvany, a patron of that establishment, engaged in a quarrel at an early hour yesterday morning which may terminate fatally. During a scuffle, Fallon seized a heavy piece of wood technically called a "bung starter," and cracked Mulvany a blow on the head which felled him senseless to the floor and caused the blood to rush violently from his nose and ears. A police officer took him to a hotel where he now lies between life and death, and arrested Fallon, who is now in jail.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.—On a telegram from Salem yesterday a man named Abel Laughbridge was arrested in this city, charged with forgery. Laughbridge, it appears, forged two orders on a woman named Hattie Dora, who had some money on deposit at the Commercial Hotel. He forged two orders and attempted to forge a third, when he was detected. Laughbridge left and came to this city, where he was arrested and lodged in jail. Marshal Minto came down yesterday afternoon and will leave here this morning for Salem with the prisoner.

IRON WORKS SHUT DOWN.—The Oregon Iron Company at Oswego shut down their furnace on Saturday on account of scarcity of water in the creek. They are digging a ditch in the bed of the old canal from Tualatin river to Sucker lake, seven feet wide and six feet deep, by which they expect to bring through three feet of water at the lowest stage. They have also contracted for new machinery to cost about $10,000, part of which is now being made by Smith Bro's & Watson.

PARIS EXPOSITION MEDALS.—There are exhibited in the show window of J. Van Beurden two handsome silver medals, awarded to A. Booth & Co. and J. Cook & Co., for canned salmon at the exposition universelle at Paris last year; also a gold medal and diploma awarded to Oregon for her general exhibit. The latter will be forwarded to the secretary of state in a few days.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The board of managers of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, will hold their annual meeting at Salem, commencing Tuesday, Dec. 2, 1879. At this meeting the time will be decided upon for holding the annual fair of 1880, and the list of premiums for the same will be arranged. All members and friends of the society are invited to attend.

TUALATIN WATER WORKS PROSPECTS.—Mr. Henry C. Owen, of Eugene, arrived in the city Wednesday, and will leave on the State of California for San Francisco to confer with several capitalists there regarding the building of the Tualatin water works. Mr. Owen thinks the prospects are good for the construction of the works in the near future.

UNCALLED LETTERS.—The following letters remain uncalled for at the office of Wells, Fargo & Co.: A. Aschbaberg, Gilbert Bryant, D. B. [illegible], M. Hearn, Miss Ruby Layton, E. C. Mainwairing, J. J. Malone, Mrs. H. M. Porter, L. M. Rogers, J. H. Reed, Daniel S. Smith, John R. Wilson, Jas. Woodward, Thomas J. Watson, Colonel Wheat.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED.

The Roseburg Star of yesterday contains the following account of a sad fatal shooting affray which occurred in Douglas county:

Last week, Ziba and Silas Marvin, Newton Claiborne and another gentleman, went out for a four days' hunt in the mountains near the Little canyon, in the northern part of the county. On Friday the party separated, the Marvin brothers going in one direction and Claiborne and companion taking another course. Some hours afterwards, Ziba Marvin noticed a commotion in the bushes, and sighting the object which he thought to be a deer fired upon it. His aim was too true, and a cry of pain from Claiborne, made known the terrible fact that a companion had been wounded. The bullet took effect in the left breast a little below the heart, and after lingering a few hours in great suffering, Claiborne breathed his last. His dead body was then brought five miles to his home. Mr. Claiborne was aged 22 and well liked in the community where he lived. This is another one of those painful cases where no particular blame can be attached to any one, save, perhaps, carelessness on the part of all.

THE BOOK TRADE.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE MAMMOTH STORE OF J. K. GILL & CO. IN THE NEW UNION BLOCK.

An Immense Stock of Books, Stationery, Etc.—School Books by the Ton—Historical, Scientific, Classical and Miscellaneous Works of All Kinds—Splendid Holiday Goods—Their New Store and how they do Business.

There is no better criterion by which to judge of the advancement the people are making in the matter of civilization and material wealth than by the growth of the institutions and enterprises which have for their object the dissemination of the literature of the day. For in the first settlement of a country, when the people are scattered, when schools and churches are few, newspapers and book stores are scarce. When the population increases these two institutions show it in the facilities which they provide for furnishing the people with reading matter. The first book store, however, hardly indicates the state of a first class establishment such as

[illegible]

Conduct in this city. Mr. Gill has been twelve years engaged in the business [illegible] and no other man in the state probably is more conversant with the trade and the wants of the people in this respect. By his strict attention to business, courteousness on his part and fair dealing with all, he has built up a trade which extends to all parts of the northwest coast; nearly every school district from the California line to the British possessions having handled and read books from his establishment, and every library in the same limit has been from time to time made up of or replenished from the same source. For some years the establishment of this firm on First street has been well known to the public, but the growth of the state and city, and the necessity of greater facilities for meeting the wants of their proportionately increasing trade, and keeping a stock equal to their business, has compelled them to seek more commodious quarters. Therefore, when the elegant block between Stark and Oak on First street was contemplated this firm was one of the first to engage the most eligible part of it, and their portion was specially planned and built to suit their wants.

THE STORE AND SALESROOM

Are on the first floor, consisting of the main room 24 feet wide, entered at the front on First street, extending back about 105 feet with an L about 50x24 opening on Stark. A gallery is built entirely around the rooms so as to afford the most convenient access to the upper tiers of shelves and inspection of the goods upon them. The main room is devoted to the display of goods and the retail trade of the firm. The L is for the accommodation of the wholesale business, the arrangement being for the shipment of large packages from the Stark street entrance. In the main room, fronting on First are three counters with wide aisles between, each counter being filled with drawers, accessible from each side. The balcony is substantially but most neatly and elegantly finished, with a black walnut railing highly polished and varnished, and a lattice work of wire appropriately painted. The inside cornice is of the most elegant pattern of scroll and carved work, the gallery supported by elaborately designed brackets, the whole of the interior ornamentation being of the most tasteful and appropriate character. The show windows on First are large and arranged to display the elegant goods kept in them to the best possible advantage, presenting to the passers by a very pleasing and inviting view.

THE STOCK OF GOODS

Which this firm keeps on hand is the largest on the Pacific coast, except in two or three San Francisco houses, and embraces a variety of goods as great as can be found in any similar establishment in the country. To enumerate in detail would require our entire available reading space, and then many articles in the stock would be necessarily omitted. It embraces everything which can be thought of or desired in the line of books and stationery.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

The supply of school books constantly kept full and complete, and includes every book in use in our public or private schools, academies and colleges, from the simplest primer to the most intricate treatises on all the sciences, all the popular series of classical school books and the text books of all the modern languages. In fact there is no school in the land but what can find the necessary books here. The stock of the books now in use in the public schools of Oregon is particularly complete.

With their school books they also keep a large assortment of school stationery, as papers, pens, pencils, erasers, inks, slates, rulers, etc., etc., all of the best quality and sold at the lowest living prices. In this line there is nothing new comes out but they are the first to present it to the public. Their assortment of

TOY BOOKS,

Story and picture books for children, embraces all the late and interesting novelties in this line, and is larger than that of any other house in the state.

HISTORY AND SCIENCE.

The works of all the popular writers on these topics are found upon their shelves, and we are informed that to those who are not conversant with the book trade on this coast, it is a matter of surprise when told the number of readers such works find. The firm annually sells very great numbers of them to customers from all parts of Oregon and Washington and Idaho territories, showing that the proportion of our people who read solid books is quite as great as is generally found in the United States.

RELIGIOUS.

All the religious books almost in print are kept, and those of every denominational taste can find here, works suited to their views and those containing all the arguments for or against the tenets of their particular faith. Their stock of Bibles and testaments is large and varied, embracing all sizes and styles of printing and binding, from the smallest and cheapest pocket editions to the most elaborately bound and most finely printed.

WRITING AND DRAWING.

The assortment of the various materials used for writing and drawing is extensive and complete, embracing a full line of writing papers from the finest note to the largest legal and foolscap; the best steel pens made; the greatest variety of writing and draughtsman's pencils, pens and inks. In this line are many novelties among which are some new and elegant designs for wedding invitations, mourning paper and note papers, suitable for all circumstances and all classes of people.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

The aim of the firm this year has been to offer to the public the most complete and elegant assortment of holiday goods ever shown in Oregon, and their preparations have been commensurate with this object. In addition to the very large supply of elegant gift books, their stock of Russia leather goods consisting of handkerchief, perfumery, glove boxes, bound with this material and really the most beautiful and appropriate for the occasion that could be selected.

HOW THE BUSINESS IS DONE.

Messrs. Gill & Co. years ago recognized the importance of Oregon as a state, bright in its promises and great in its future possibilities. J. K. Gill, the senior member of the firm, believing it the best and most independent policy for the merchants of Oregon to buy their goods directly from the manufacturers or publishers, maintaining an entire independence of San Francisco houses, and of the vast quantities of goods in their line sold by this firm every year 95 per cent. is bought by them in Europe or the eastern states. They have now a quantity of fine goods shipped to them direct from London. They buy steel pens from Gillott's factory, and nobody handles their lead pencils from the time they leave Faber's till they are opened in Portland. Their account with the great publishing house of the Harpers in New York has been open for twelve years, and as illustrating the strict business principles upon which both houses are conducted, we are assured that in dealing with each other to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars, there has never been a discrepancy in their books except of $1.50 in one single instance. Messrs. Gill & Co. have relations also with nearly all the leading publishers in the United states, and as soon as a new book is issued it is forwarded to their house. Their stock of writing and drawing papers are also obtained directly from the manufacturers and always embraces the very latest styles. By this method they always have the freshest and most stylish goods, and everything out of date in their store is laid aside.

The arrangement of the goods in their store is complete in every respect, every article being placed by numbers or in alphabetical order, so that it can be readily and quickly found by the corps of obliging employes. It is made the duty and appears to be the pleasure of the several clerks as well as the members of the firm to pay the most polite attention to all patrons of the establishment. The aim of the house is to merit the good will of the public by courteous conduct, strict fulfillment of its promises, and correctness of its representations in every respect. Their present establishment is pronounced by those who have traveled extensively as one of the most complete in all its appointments in the United States. We are proud to note such evidences of prosperity as evinced in their splendid establishment, and recommend them to all who desire to purchase the best goods in their line on the most reasonable terms.

Fat People easily "Sunstruck."

Fat people are not only liable to sudden death from heart disease, apoplexy, etc., but statistics show that they are more liable than others to "sunstrokes" and affections arising from extreme heat. An extensive experience in the treatment of corpulence has resulted in the introduction of Allan's Anti-Fat, a safe, certain, and speedy remedy for the cure of this terrible condition. Its use insures a reduction of from two to five pounds per week. If corpulent people who are exposed to the rays of the sun value life, and a comfortable existence, let them use Allan's Anti-Fat. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

MONMOUTH, Oregon, Nov. 4, 1879.

The annual meeting of the Christian church of the state of Oregon convened at this place to-day at 2 P. M.

After scripture reading and prayer by Elder H. M. Waller, of Monmouth, President T. F. Campbell delivered a brief but pointed address to the meeting, stating the paramount object of the organization to be missionary work, a work that had engaged the councils of heaven and in behalf of which the Savior came and labored on the earth for humanity. He urged earnest and determined action in the missionary cause tempered only with brotherly kindness and love, shunning everything as would constrain by way of contention rather than by harmonious unity. He also especially recommended brotherly [illegible] to their congregations rather than chiding or in any way evincing a condemning spirit.

[illegible] presentation of credentials it was ascertained that the following delegates were entitled to representation from the various churches so far as heard from: Sheridan, R. A. Porter, J. J. [illegible], H. W. Barnes; Bethel, [illegible] Fraser, C. [illegible] and J. H. Hawley; Lafayette, R. W. Denny, Mrs. R. W. Denny, E. C. Bradshaw and Mrs. E. C. Bradshaw; Portland, T. G. Davidson, W. H. Adams, Frances C. Adams and Miss Lee; Salem, P. R. Burnett and S. C. Adams; Amity, G. W. Mellick, [illegible] Williams and [illegible]; Carlton, [illegible]; [illegible] Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Hendershot and J. Foster; Monmouth, F. S. Powell, L. P. Rowland, L. Bentley, J. Wolverton, W. E. Pettijohn, E. Percival and A. W. Lucas; Beaver Creek, R. H. Moss, J. M. Burnfield and Douglas Davis; McMinnville, C. A. Walker, Mrs. C. A. Walker, Miss Snelling, D. S. Holman, B. Wolverton, W. C. Whelan, John McMurdy and G. W. Hardwick; Marion county, Peter Stahck.

Reports from the various churches throughout the state indicating their condition and that of the Sunday schools under their charge, were then read and submitted. Remarks of an interesting character, touching missionary work, were made by Elders P. R. Burnett, Bruce Wolverton, R. H. Moss, S. C. Adams, E. W. Barnes and A. W. Lucas.

Owing to the ill health of Mrs. T. F. Campbell, President Campbell was compelled to surrender the chair and repair to her bedside, when Elder P. R. Burnett was chosen chairman of the meeting during his absence.

At 4 o'clock the meeting adjourned until 7 P. M., when Elder S. C. Adams delivered an address upon the subject of "The Importance of Co-operative Effort in the Work of Evangelizing," to a large and attentive audience.

A Prediction Justified.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Tablets.

Children are delighted with them.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence The Kaiser celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung diseases. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry, etc. Is rendered perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, Utah and numerous other places, whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup, possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir! The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Kaiser. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with Boschee's German Syrup. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge, by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia, when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, billiousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations, genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative.

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

Albany Democrat Never before has the farmers of this valley had a better opportunity for putting in fall grain and never before have they improved their opportunities so well. Prominent farmers from all parts of this county tell us that already over half of our grain fields are seeded and the earliest sown is up and looking well. Looking at it from every point we are led to believe that Linn county's wheat crop next season will be large and of the best quality and if good prices rule we will once more be as prosperous as any locality on the globe

Notes from Umatilla County

Mr. J L Killian writes from Weston Umatilla county, under date of the 4th inst as follows As this county is rapidly settling up, it seems that sharpers and land grabbers are turning their attention this way More than a year ago certain moneyed men of Walla Walla hired a surveyor and located all the school land north of the Umatilla river and filed timber culture claims in many other sections This appeared to be all right but when we see one man sell two or three sections of school land, we begin to think and ask ourselves "how did this man acquire title to so much school land? It may be all on the square but like Thomas of old we doubt.

Several parties are locating considerable government land by means of soldier's additional homestead

Some of our local papers are advocating a division of this county and have the lines already defined in their ponderous brains If they would agitate a herd law for this part of Umatilla county that is all north of the Umatilla river they would be doing a benefit for the county and their patrons Our people have no time to devote to politics and do not want to support any more county officers than is necessary One or two papers are doing their patrons of this section a real service by advocating a no fence law

They Must Learn to Like Them

They didn't like Zach Chandler in Massachusetts He was too plain in his language They are said not to like Robert Collyer in New York for a like reason It indicates that western habits and customs are not popular in the east The people in that section will have to change They will have to conform to this section It is not in accordance with nature that the sterile stump tailed appendages along the bleak Atlantic should wag the boundless west After the next census the east and the south will be relegated to positions of inconspicuity as compared with the west and northwest

LIVERPOOL, Nov 7—A leading grain circular says that the grain trade was somewhat steadier at the commencement of the week but afterwards there was almost a cessation of consumptive or speculative demand. The provincial markets were very inactive and many of them a shilling lower Transactions in cargoes are quite unimportant, buyers holding off anticipating a decline at Liverpool and neighboring markets Since Tuesday business in wheat and maize is quite of a retail character and prices rather under those of Tuesday This morning's market was very inanimate though there was, perhaps less pressure to sell than yesterday, and limited business was transacted at a reduction of 2d on California and red winter wheat, and fully 3d on California white from Tuesday's quotations Flour was neglected and nominal Corn met with limited sale and was a penny lower
